

Master in Quantum Science and Technology
2019/20

Calendar

- 1st Term: The first term starts on September 30, 2019. Lecturing will take place through to December 12, 2019. There will be two periods available for exams. The first one will be from December 16 to December 19, 2019. The second one from January 7, 2020 to January 10, 2020. The official calendar of the Faculty of Science and Technology will be applicable; thus there will be no lectures nor availability of personnel on the following days: November 1 and 15, and December 6 and 20.
- 2nd Term: The second term starts on January 13, 2020. Lecturing will take place through to March 27, 2020. There will be one week available for exams or final presentations from March 30, 2020 to April 3, 2020. No exams nor presentations used for assessment of the second term can be placed after this date.
- Resits: In the (hopefully unlikely) event of a student failing a subject in the first call, the resit exam or additional presentation will take place from April 20, 2020 to April 24, 2020.
- Theses: The defence of the Masters Theses will be of preference in September, with the latest possible defence being on September 28, 2020 (the students should be aware that there are limitations as to how many defences there can be on one day). If there are special circumstances (to be argued in front of the Steering Committee), the defence can be brought forward to July.
